Achieve Global & National Compliance with SGS RoHS Verification Service

In EU market, 2011/65/EU, or RoHS 2 Directive, restricts the use of potentially hazardous substances in electrical and electronic products. Since then, similar regulations exist in other areas of the world including China, Japan, South Korea, USA, Norway and Turkey.

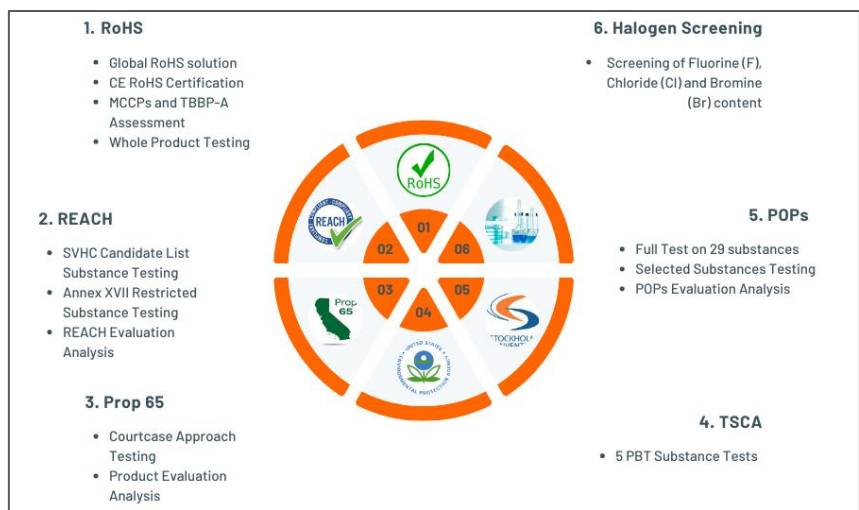

With so many different variations, SGS's RoHS Verification Program helps companies to minimize the financial and administrative burden of RoHS compliance. Our chemical experts help you mitigate the risk of non-compliance to global and national restricted substances regulations.

SGS RoHS Verification Program is applicable to:

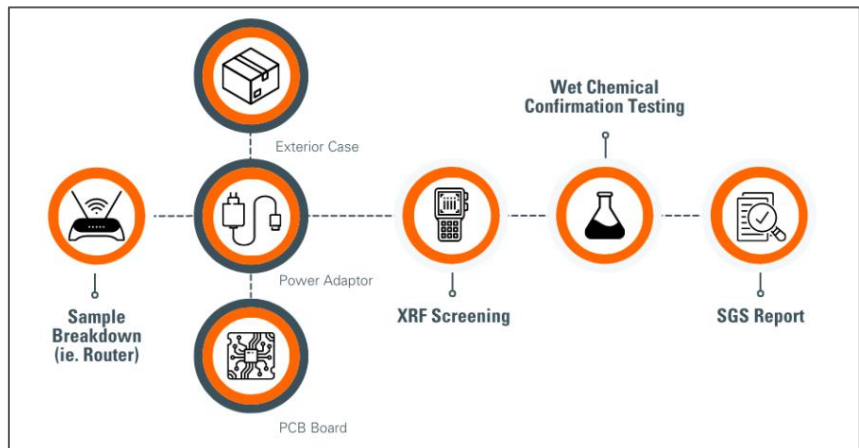

- Household Appliances
- Wireless/RF Products
- Lighting Products
- Health Care Devices
- Electronics & Components
- Power Tools
